DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Figures 13 and 14 should be labeled as – Prior Art -- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g).

In Figures 1, 11, 13 and 14, the block elements should be labeled with its description.

Claim Objections

3. Claims 6-8 are objected to because of the following informalities. Appropriate correction is required.

In claim 6, line 7, the phrase “the liquid surface” should be changed to – a liquid surface --.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 9-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 9, line 9, the phrase “the reception signal analysis” lacks antecedent basis. In line 23, the phrase “the calculated value” lacks antecedent basis. In line 23, the phrase “the risk” lacks antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

7. Claims 6-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) or 102(e) as being anticipated by either U.S. Patent 5,834,648 (Wang et al.) or JP 58-071417 (Shirasaka) or U.S. Patent 6,397,656 (Yamaguchi et al.).

With regards to claims 6-8, the references, Wang et al., Shirasaka and Yamaguchi et al., disclose an apparatus comprising an ultrasonic vibration detecting sensor including a container filled with liquid with an ultrasonic vibrator arranged to transmit an ultrasonic wave into the liquid and to receive an ultrasonic wave reflected from a liquid surface which serves to detect behavior of a detection object (i.e. a human, an animal or a machine); an ultrasonic transmission and reception control device including an ultrasonic transmitter/receiver, a signal converter connected to the ultrasonic transmitter/receiver, a microprocessor connected to the signal converter to issue a transmission signal and a reception signal at specific time intervals, a cable coupling the ultrasonic detecting sensor with the ultrasonic transmission and reception control device. Furthermore, the references suggest the microprocessor is programmed to perform a compilation of time series data of amplitude values of the received reception signals, to extract a spectrum peak by fast Fourier transform and to calculate the risk by a fuzzy If-Then rule. (See, Figure 1, column 2, line 51 to column 6, line 27 of Wang et al.; Figures 1-3, Abstract of Shirasaka; Figures 1-5, column 4, line 51 to column 10, line 41 of Yamaguchi et al.).

With regards to claims 9-12, the claims are directed to method claims. The claims are commensurate in scope with the apparatus claims of claims 6-8 and are rejected for the same reasons as set forth above.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

The references cited are related to devices having a vibrator with a transmitter and receiver for transmitting and receiving ultrasonic waves to the vibrator.
